News

After five weeks, it looks like Team 4 has unseated Team 2 aka "The League of Extraordinary Gentlemen" due to Team 8 falling down. They are trying to due a halftime stretch run but consistency will be the key to getting one of the 2 spots for the playoff.

Team 4, 7, and Team 2 aren't really that far apart and actually, only 5 weeks into the season, it still is anybody's game. Remember you are playing for the top two spots to make the 1st half playoffs.

Notes:

Scoring:

This year we have implemented hole-by-hole scoring into the online system. What we mean by "scoring" is we enter actual strokes taken. The system then calculates the CORRECT MATCH points per hole based on those strokes taken. This alleviates common errors as found on the cards (many times where strokes were not given or taken properly and added incorrectly.) When people are attesting the cards, they are attesting to the strokes taken.

Captains should e-mail the handicapper, Pete Michno, no later than 1100 Thursday to give their line-ups. However, I'm sure the handicapper would appreciate Captains providing the line-ups earlier if you have them set. 1100 on Thursday should be the exception, not the rule.

Captains should inform all retirees and non-NUWC members on their teams to use the website for all League information.

Slow Play Watch:

Guys it is starting to show and look like slow play so keep the pace of play up. If you are ready hit don't wait for everyone else while they talk and slow down. MOVE Faster People and don't doddle around the course. The first group usually finishes up near a 2 hour and 15 minute pace. The most the last group should be is a 2 hour and 40 minute pace. Keep moving and be aware of your spacing. Each group should have a ranger to keep the group moving along. Dedicate a person in your tee group to push everyone.

Joke of the Week

Great Woman Golfer

Four lawyers in a law firm lived and died for their Saturday morning round of golf. It was their favorite moment of the week.

Then one of the lawyers was transferred to an office in another city. It wasn't quite the same without him.

A new woman lawyer joined their law firm. One day she overheard the remaining three talking about their golf round at the coffee table.

Curious, she spoke up, "You know, I used to play on my golf team in college and I was pretty good. Would you mind if I joined you next week"

The three lawyers looked at each other. They were hesitant. Not one of them wanted to say 'yes', but she had them on the spot. Finally one man said it would be okay, but they would be starting pretty early at 6:30 am. He figured the early Tee-Time would discourage her immediately.

The woman said this might be a problem and asked if she could possibly be up to 15 minutes late. They rolled their eyes but said this would be okay. She smiled and said, "Good, then I'll be there either at 6:30 or 6:45."

She showed up right at 6:30 and wound up beating all three of them with an eye-opening 2-under par round. She was a fun and pleasant person the entire round. The guys were impressed! Back in the clubhouse they congratulated her and happily invited her back the next week. She smiled and said "Sure, I'll be here at 6:30 or 6:45."

The next week she again showed up at 6:30 Saturday morning. Only this time, she played left-handed. The three lawyers were incredulous as she still managed to beat them with an even par round despite playing with her off-hand. By now the guys were totally amazed, but wondered if she was just trying to make them look bad by beating them left-handed. They couldn't figure her out.

She was again very pleasant and didn't seem to be showing them up, but each man began to harbor a burning desire to beat her! In the third week they all had their game faces on. But this week she was 15 minutes late! This had the guys irritable because each was determined to play the best round of golf of his life to beat her.

As they waited for her, they figured her late arrival was some petty gamesmanship on her part. Finally she showed up. This week the lady lawyer played right-handed which was a good thing since she narrowly beat all three of them. However she was so gracious and so complimentary of their strong play, it was hard to keep a grudge against her. This woman was a riddle no one could figure out!

Back in the clubhouse she had all three guys shaking their heads at her ability. They had a couple beers after their round which helped the conversation loosen up. Finally one of the men could contain his curiosity no longer. He asked her point blank, "How do you decide if you're going to golf right-handed or left-handed?"

The lady blushed and grinned. She said, "That's easy. When my dad taught me to play golf, I learned I was ambidextrous. I have always had fun switching back and forth. Then when I met my husband in college and got married, I discovered he always sleeps in the nude. From then on I developed a silly habit. Right before I left in the morning for golf practice, I would pull the covers off him. If his you-know-what was pointing to the right, I golfed right-handed and if it was pointed to the left, I golfed left-handed. All the girls on the team thought this was hysterical."

Astonished at this bizarre information, one of the guys shot back, "But what if it's pointed straight up in the air?"

She said, "Then I'm fifteen minutes late."

Quote of the Week

Concentration comes out of a combination of confidence and hunger.

Arnold Palmer

Golf Cartoon of the Week

"Due to corporate cutbacks, we're all going to have to sacrifice. Which is why I'm only playing nine holes today, instead of my customary 18."

Great Pictures of the Week

Ok Don, This putt should be easier for you.

Yeah, we will ensure you hit the sweet spot now.

Wow, they are really trying to get to the root of this.
