News

Wow..... The scores were much better compared to the scores in the bad weather everyone played in the week before! The tug of war continues at the top of the ranks between Team 1 and Team 4 who are now tied for the lead. Four other teams are within 17 points and with 4 weeks to go they are all in the running. There were several notable shellackings this week. Schwab and sub Broadmeadow leading the way for Team 4 taking 13.5 points, Diadato and sub Kilcline taking the same from Bertsch and Wind, and Perry and Duckett also taking 13.5 points despite Duckett getting a ball stuck in a pine tree on 4!

I know this is a boring bully but there wasn't enough that I heard for me to write about this week and I didn't stick around for the Republican debate in the 19th. But to sum things up about previous weeks, players should assume to play if the course is not closed. That means to be prepared to play in the elements. If you are not sure how to dress properly, I think there is probably a site called Momadvise.com. On second thought, probably a bad suggestion as this probably would result in a porn site.

The bully may not come out on a weekly basis since most of the info is available on the website. We plan to add the weekly low gross and low net info on the website as well as the low gross and low net for the half. So all the pertinent info (less golf gossip) will be available each week on the website.

We are still trying to overcome the hurdles of allowing you to view the site at work. Damn NMCI!!!!!!

Notes:

Captains should e-mail the handicapper, Pete Michno, no later than 1100 Wednesday to give their line-ups. However, I'm sure the handicapper would appreciate Captains providing the line-ups earlier if you have them set. 1100 on Wednesday should be the exception, not the rule.

Captains should inform all retirees and non-NUWC members on their teams to use the website for all League information.

Please pay attention to the rules of scoring matches when there is a Noah. Remember that they are one on one matches and the tick marks for handicaps need to be adjusted accordingly for each individual match.

Slow Play Watch:

It's been too many years and we have provided many suggestions, used embarrassment, etc.. I give up. This section will no longer be included

Joke of the Week

Dear Abby

Dear Abby,

I've never written to you before, but I really need your advice. I have suspected for some time now that my wife has been cheating on me. The usual signs. Phone rings but if I answer, the caller hangs up. My wife has been going out with "the girls" a lot recently although when I ask their names she always says, "Just some friends from work, you don't know them."

I always try to stay awake to look out for her coming home, but I usually fall asleep. Anyway, I have never approached the subject with my wife. I think deep down I just didn't want to know the truth, but last night she went out again and I decided to really check on her. Around midnight, I decided to hide in the garage behind my golf clubs so I could get a good view of the whole street when she arrived home from a night out with "the girls".

It was at that moment, crouching behind my clubs, that I noticed that the graphite shaft on my driver appeared to have a hairline crack right by the club head. Is this something I can fix myself or should I take it back to the pro shop where I bought it?

Signed,
Perplexed
